FIG. 1 is a block diagram showing a total structure of a general PDP apparatus. In a PDP 10, n X electrodes 11 and Y electrodes 12 are arranged in adjacent and alternating parallel relationships, forming n pairs, each pair of an X electrode 11 and a Y electrode 12, and light is emitted for display between the X electrode 11 and Y electrode 12 of each pair. Y electrodes and X electrodes are called display electrodes and are also called sustaining electrodes. Address electrodes 13 are provided in the direction that runs at a right angle to the direction in which the display electrodes extend, and display cells are formed at crossings of the address electrodes and pairs of X electrode 11 and Y electrode 12.
